QUILTING PARTY

BETSY was frantic. She had promised to make a quilt for the Inter-Racial Relief Society and deliver it Monday. Here it was Thursday and it wasn't finished. All the knots had to be tied and that would take her at least three more weeks.

"Mother, what'll I do? I just kind of forgot about that quilt what with exams and stuff. I'm limp with worry."

"You should have thought of that when you promised it." She had to smile at her daughter's droopy face. "Don't take it so hard. Maybe your class will help you."

"My class?" Betsy was horrified. "Can you picture my class, the Forty-Niners, sitting here and tying knots in a quilt?"

"If you make a game of it they'll do it, or make it a party. That's it, have a quilting party."

Betsy was interested now. "How do you do that?"

Mother explained that in grandma's day it was quite an event to attend a quilting party. Everyone sat around in a circle with the quilt in the center. They talked, laughed and tied knots. Then they danced and had refreshments.

"Sounds good," Betsy said thoughtfully. "But I don't dare tell them what they're going to do. Not a Junior in Rockville High would come. I know them. We all like excitement."

"All right, don't tell them. Invite ten Juniors, five girls and five boys for Sunday night. We'll have it in the playroom. When they're all seated, I'll bring out the quilt."

The next day in school, Betsy invited the ten guests. She told them it was going to be an old-fashioned party, the kind their grandmothers and grandfathers used to have. Everyone was curious and accepted.

Sandy cornered her. He had a knowing look in his eye. "According to the books grandma and grandpa didn't do anything I'd call exciting. Croquet, whist . . . quilting parties. . . ."

Betsy gulped. "Wh-what did you say?"

"I said they didn't do anything exciting in those days, just quilting parties and stuff."

"Well, this will be exciting. You don't know the half of it, Sandy Mills. If you don't come, I'll never speak to you again." He'd come so close to what her party was going to be that Betsy covered her fright with anger.

"Don't get sore. I said I'd come, didn't I? What time?"

"Seven o'clock and be on time." She hurried away before he could say more and get the whole story out of her.

On Saturday Betsy worked on the quilt. She wanted sample knots on the borders so the Juniors would know what to do. It was easy and fun. All you did was push the needle through twice, snip the yarn, and tie a knot.

"Gosh, we'll finish this in no time Sunday night," she told her mother. "I'll be able to deliver it and keep my promise. Oh, I hope nothing happens. I hope they'll do it."

"I'm sure they will if you make it a game," Mother told her.

Betsy wasn't so sure. She worried all day Saturday and all day Sunday. By six o'clock the worry had grown to a big mountain or an enormous quilt that needed knots. She couldn't even picture the ten Juniors sitting in a circle and helping her. It was too quiet for them. The Forty-Niners demanded excitement and they usually got it. Sitting quietly for an hour wasn't their meat.

"Mother, let's call it off," she begged. "I'll just call the Society and say the quilt will be three weeks late. I'll be a big zero with the gang when that quilt appears."

"We'll do nothing of the kind. Anything can be fun if it becomes a game. I'm sure you're up to it."

At five minutes to seven the doorbell started ringing. The Juniors arrived in full sail. Will dashed to the radio and tuned on a hot rumba number. A group started to dance. Their exuberance was slow poison to Betsy as she watched them. "How am I ever going to get them to sit down quietly?" she asked herself as they entered and took the playroom over. Coke bottles snapped open, singing rent the air and dancing feet shook the pictures on the basement wall.

"Oohhh," Betsy groaned. "Why did I ever do this? They'll blackball me forever."

Sandy was the last to arrive. "Where's the old-fashioned party?" he asked, "Looks to me like 1948. Let's get going."

"In a minute, Sandy. In a minute." She hoped her mother would put off entering with the quilt forever.

Sandy grabbed her. "How about a little samba while we're waiting?"

"Sandy," Betsy whispered. "I've just got to get this gang to sit down in a circle. Will you help me? It's—it's part of the party and a big surprise."

"Sit down?" Sandy asked unbelievingly. "Well, I'll try to help you. What's the surprise?"

"You'll find out. " Betsy's knees were water as she watched Sandy try to quiet the gang.

"The party is starting!" he announced. "Betsy wants all of us to sit down in a circle."

"What is this. A seance?" Diane asked.

"Let's dance," Joan said as she tapped to the rhythm.

"Sit down!" Sandy ordered as he turned off the radio.

They sat down and the girls started to giggle. "Let's turn off the lights and hold hands," Cele suggested. "That's what our grandparents used to do."

"Quiet," Sandy ordered again.

When they were all seated and quiet, the door opened and Betsy's mother entered with the quilt in her arms. Betsy groaned and wanted to hop up and say it was all off. Mother smiled and spread the quilt on their knees.

"I know," Joan said. "We're going to make a flag. "Betsy, are you playing Betsy Ross?"

"No," Betsy answered through tight lips. "This is a quilting party. We're all going to tie knots in it with colored yarn. It will take about an hour, that's all. I promised it to the Inter-Racial Relief Society for Monday. I thought all of you would help me."

"Not me!" Sandy said and stood up. "No one's going to catch me tying knots in a quilt. Let's have some music!"

"Sandy, please," Betsy said. "It's fun."

The whole gang voiced their disapproval. Betsy looked sick at she saw them get out of hand. She saw her mother motioning her at the door. "What, Mother? What can I do now?"

"Make it a game," Mother whispered. "Challenge them. Say you can tie faster than any of them. I have prizes for the winners."

Betsy wiped the tears from her eyes. "Mother, you're wonderful," she whispered as she returned to the circle.

"Maybe I'm wrong, Sandy," she told him with her nose in the air, "but I defy you to tie a knot as fast as I can. I'm the prize knot tier in the whole country." She sat down and pushed the big needle through the quilt. In half a second she had it cut and tied. "See what I mean?" she challenged.

"Oh, yeah?" Sandy said as he sat down. "My grandfather was the greatest fisherman on this coast. He made nets by the carload. Just let me show you how to tie a knot fast, but fast!" He sat down and grabbed one of the needles. In less than half a second he had a knot tied.

The gang ambled over and watched the contest. Sandy and Betsy were working their needles through the quilt like lightning. Their faces were determined and stern.

"Huh!" Joan said. "I'll bet I can do better than they can." Before long the whole gang was seated again, each one trying to become the champion.

"There are prizes for the winners, so keep track of how many knots you tie," Betsy warned without looking up. The quilt was on its way to completion fast. Sandy was perspiring with his haste.

At the finale, Sandy came up as the winner. Joan and Cele were runners-up.

"I told you I could do it," Sandy told Betsy. "I knew I could tie those knots faster than you could."

"I knew it too," she answered. "Let's dance, Sandy," she said as the radio blared through the room. "I knew it all the time."

SKINNY!

Give Me 15 Minutes A Day And I'll Give You A New Body

CHARLES ATLAS

Holder of title, "The World's Most Perfectly Developed Man."

PEOPLE used to laugh at my skinny, 97 lb. body. I was so embarrassed at my weakling build that I was ashamed to strip for sports or for a swim. Girls snickered and made fun of me behind my back. THEN I discovered my marvelous new muscle-building system—"Dynamic Tension." And it turned me into such a complete specimen of MANHOOD that today I hold the title "THE WORLD'S MOST PERFECTLY DEVELOPED MAN."

That's how I traded in my "bag of bones" for a barrel of muscle! And I felt so much better, so much on top of the world in my big new, husky body, that I decided to devote my whole life to helping other fellows change themselves into "perfectly developed men."

WHAT'S MY SECRET?

When you look in the mirror and see a healthy, husky, strapping fellow smiling back at you—then you'll be astonished at how short a time it takes "Dynamic Tension" to GET RESULTS!

"Dynamic Tension" is the easy, NATURAL method that you can practice in the privacy of your own room—JUST 15 MINUTES EACH DAY—while your scrawny shoulder muscles begin to swell . . . those spindly arms and legs of yours bulge . . . and your whole body starts to feel "alive," full of zip and go!

No "ifs," "ands," or "maybes." Just tell me where you want handsome, powerful muscles. Are you fat and flabby? Or skinny and gawky? Are you short-winded, pepless? Do you hold back and let others walk off with the prettiest girls, best jobs, etc.? Then write for my FREE Book about "Dynamic Tension" and learn how I can make you a healthy, confident, powerful HE-MAN.

Thousands of other fellows are becoming marvelous physical specimens—my way. I give you no gadgets or contraptions to fool with. When you have learned to develop your strength through "Dynamic Tension," you can laugh at artificial muscle-makers. You simply utilize the dormant muscle-power in your own body – watch it increase and multiply into real, solid LIVE MUSCLE.

FREE BOOK

Mail the coupon right now for full details and I'll send you my illustrated book, "Everlasting Health and Strength." Tells all about my "Dynamic Tension" method. Shows actual photos of men I've made into Atlas Champions. It's a valuable book! And it's FREE. Send for your copy today. Mail the coupon to me personally. FOOT ITCH

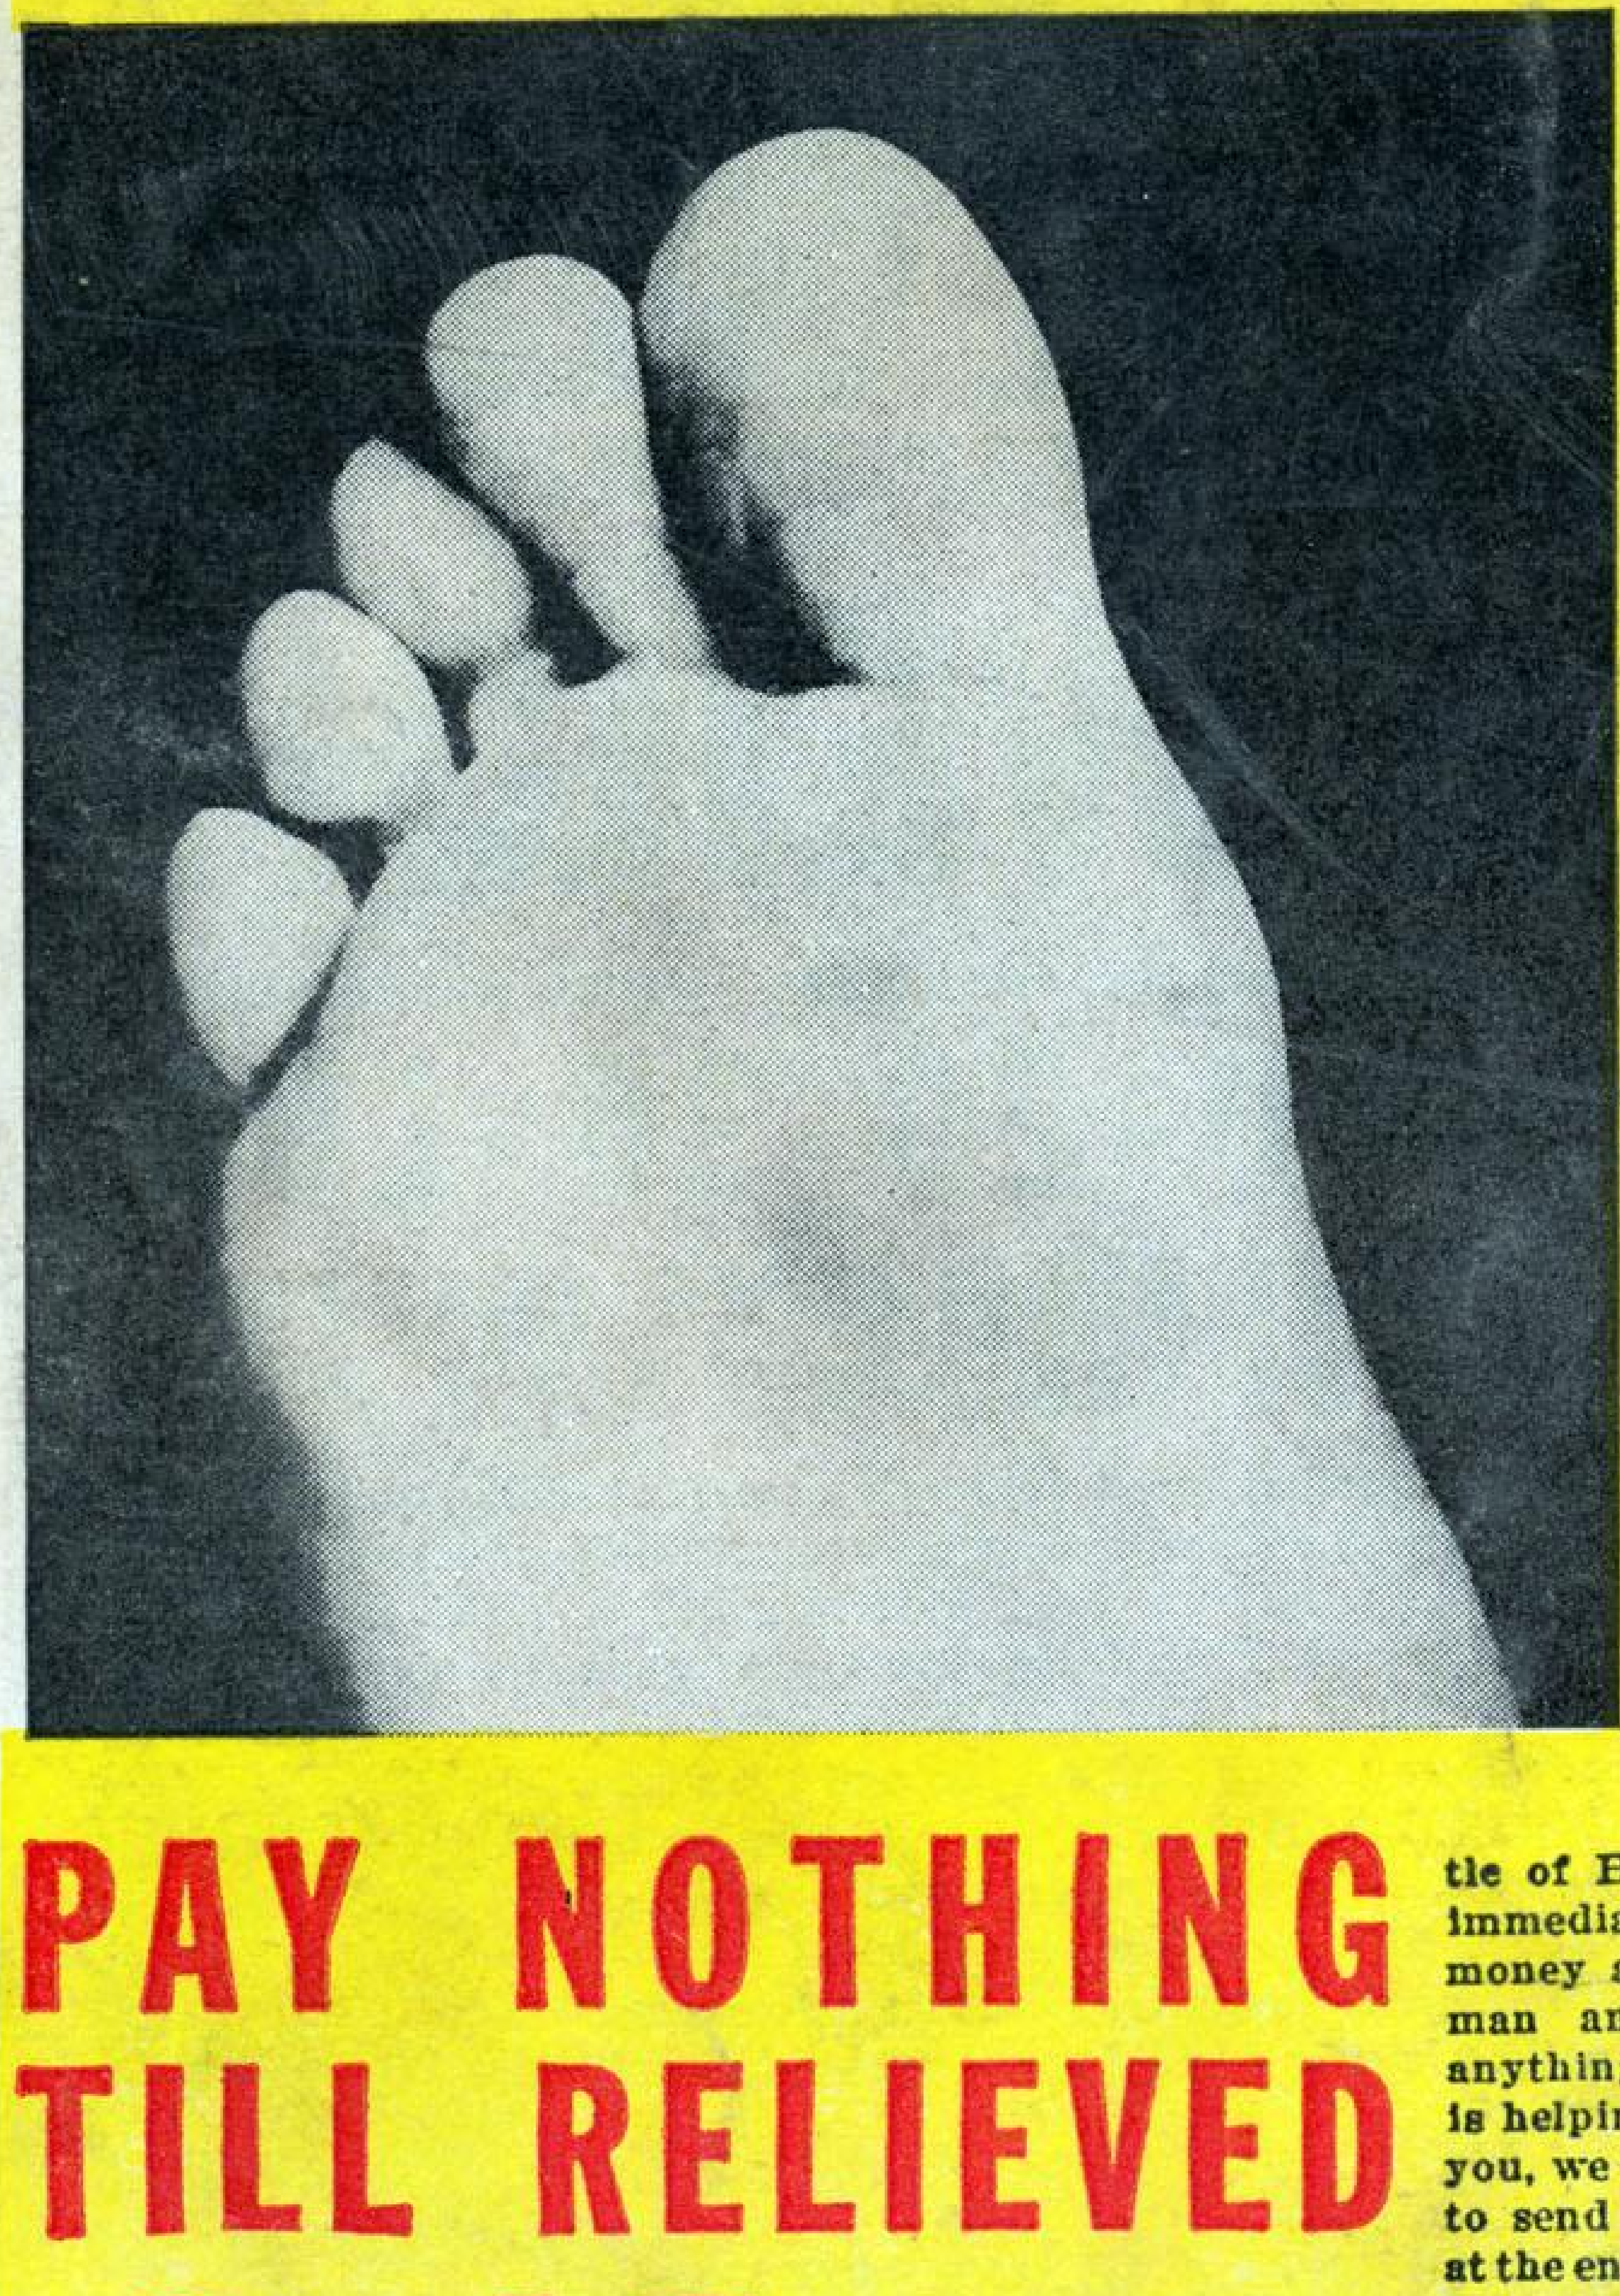
ATHLETE'S FOOT



DISEASE OFTEN MISUNDERSTOOD

The cause of the disease is not a germ as so many people think, but a vegetable growth that becomes buried beneath the outer tissues of the skin.

To obtain relief the medicine to be used should first gently dissolve or remove the outer skin and then kill the vegetable growth.

This growth is so hard to kill that a test shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to destroy it; however, laboratory tests also show that H. F. will kill it upon contact in 15 seconds.

DOUBLE ACTION NEEDED

Recently H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of relieving Athlete's Foot. It both gently dissolves the skin and then kills the vegetable growth upon contact. Both actions are necessary for prompt relief.

H. F. is a liquid that doesn't stain. You just paint the infected parts nightly before going to bed. Often the terrible itching is relieved at once.

H. F. SENT ON FREE TRIAL

Sign and mail the coupon, and a bottle of H. F. will be mailed you immediately. Don't send any money and don't pay the postman any money; don't pay anything any time unless H. F. is helping you. If it does help you, we know you will be glad to send us $1 for the bottle at the end of ten days. That's how much faith we have in H. F. Read, sign and mail the coupon today.

At least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while, the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

BEWARE OF IT SPREADING

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get relief from this disease as quickly as possible, because it is both contagious and infectious, and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

GORE PRODUCTS, Inc. M.C.

Please send me immediately a bottle of H. F. for foot trouble as described above. I agree to use it according to directions. If at the end of 10 days my feet are getting better, I will send you $1. If I am not entirely satisfied, I will return the unused portion of the bottle to you within 15 days from the time I receive it.
